

Celebrate Women's Health this International Women's Day – 8 March

Being a woman means multitasking every single day—but today, we want you to put your health first. Many women put their family's needs before their own and delay health check-ups. This Women's Day, we encourage every woman to prioritize her own health. Screening takes only a short time but can make a lifelong difference.

This International Women's Day, our hospital invites all women to take a small but powerful step for their health. A healthy woman builds a healthy family and a healthy society.

On this special occasion, we are hosting a special health drive to help you stay strong and protected for the years to come. We are organising free/affordable breast cancer screening through mammography and an HPV vaccination drive to prevent cervical cancer.

Breast cancer and cervical cancer are among the most common cancers affecting women, but the good news is that early detection and prevention can save lives. A simple mammography test can help detect breast cancer at an early stage, often before symptoms appear.

The HPV vaccine protects against the virus that causes most cases of cervical cancer.

We warmly invite women of all age groups, daughters, mothers, sisters, and friends to come forward, get screened, learn about prevention, and spread awareness. Encourage the women in your family and community to participate.

Let us celebrate women not just with words, but by protecting their health and empowering them with prevention.
